Matrimonial Mishaps.

The vicus itudes of matrimony are many, and many are the ways by which the children of this world enter into that estate of greatest blues and keenest ban. A lindy who dwells in the country has this tale to tell concerning the way in which one of her domestics entered the kingdom of the west, and it is worth record as one of the varieties which is at least an using. The girl had secured a swain who had promised to marry her although it was recognized by her friends that her hold was not as secure upon the man as might have been desired, and the day was fixed for the marriage. The pirl made her preparations but, being of a cauny turn of mind, the did not leave her place in service feeling to it it was well to be sure before she gave up a

> By Diess Goods we mean every fabric, Silk, Wool and Cotton, smtable for dieses. Our notion of a successful Dress Goods stock has been the idea of the diess wearers of this community, and it is the first of their shown appreciation of the past r sults of our ideas that enables us to show decided progress each season We know that by our Dress Goods stock our general stock is guiged, we therefore put into its purchase a discriminating judgment beyond, perhaps, any single department in our store. We know that in no town of double the size of ours can such a Dress Goods stock be found in its all around attractiveness and elegance, and in its fulfillment of fashion's demards and the demands of every class of buyers as to colorings and weaves. Our experience as buyers makes the price satisfactory, no matter what the finite. The trade signs point to an extraordinary Silk sea-

I presume that it was the purpose of our worthy Secretary, when he assigned this topic to me, that I should give you the results of my practical experience with this kind of food, and acting upon this presumption, I half give the results to you ma practical way.

The number of dairymen and stock rusers who have a practical knowledge of the use of cotton seed meal is comparatively limited, but I have yet to learn of a single individual who, after using r in an intelligent and reasonable manne, has discarded its use on account of any bud effects or from its failure to give eather satisfaction.

The demand for it in my own neighborhood is increasing rap div, and its introduction has largely changed the old method of feeding.

The first year but one and one half tons was used, he second very the dimand had increased to finiteen tons.

"That's what I call making glad the wait pieces," said Smithson, as he put his arm around a lady's wast. But Liliy work cure much for his show of affection if Smithson doesn't get rid of that disigned by all circle mills contained to the wait pieces," said Smithson, as he put his arm around a lady's wast. mand had increased to thriteen tons the third year it has it en to twenty tons, the fourth year afty tons failed to supply the increased demand and more could have been disposed of This demand does not come from those having large herds of cattle alone, but is from those who keep but two or three cows, and having been once used vear, until the demand has gradually grown to its present proportions. This increase in the demand is not alone due to an increase in the amount of milk and butter produced, but a porcon of it is due to the effect produced by cotton seed meal upon the general appearance and thrift of the animal

Fake a glance at an ammal which has been used to this kind of food You will find a soft, sleek cost, the indication of healthy growth and the laying on of fat, which we as feeders so much Those of us who have the care of fair animals well know the pleasure which we take in the proper development of a favorite colt or calf, and all such will appreciate the benefit or using a kind of food wh h will give them entire control over this development and at the same time place upon the animal the peculiar sleek cost shown by cotton I have made careful tests is to its i gain in favor of the cotten seed in all was 13 pounds.

The clear gain by feeding one ton of cotten seed in all would be cat the same rate; $14.95 and this in addition to a very decided improvement in the appearance of the coats of the cows to which it had been fed, and a corresponding laying on of flesh not noticable when the ordinary food had been used.

During the past season I have received inquiries from a number of gentle men as to the general effect product I by the use of cotion seed and I propose to here notice in detail some of the leading questions propounded by them.

the leading questions propounded by them.

Will cotton seed meal increase the tendency to abortion? I emphritically answer, no. If fed properly it has no such effects. I have not had a single case of abortion since I have been using it and I have used it more or less four years, and my cowears fed right up to the time of calving.

Does it make the flavor of the butter. It is possible that it might it fed in large amounts, but one quart fed meaning and evening will produce nothing but good affects upon both milk and butter.

is the important point. Better not oil at all than to apply it on dirty leather. The barness should be taken apart and the pieces washed and oiled separately. Rub on the oil while the leather is softened with the water It can be applied at once if the leather is subbed a little with a dry cloth, t should be soft, but not too wet. After applying the oil, hang up to dry for a few Making Glad the Waste (Waist) Places hours, till the oil is absorbed. Old harness "That's what I call making glad the that has been neglected and is dry and hard, had better not be oiled, it will do no good, the evil is already done. The fibers of the leather have lost more or less of their tenacity, and oil will not restore it, in fact, by softening the leather it only weakens it just as a wet sheet of paper will tear more easily than a dry one. Oil does not add to the strength of leather, it merely softens it and keeps it from cracking, it is a preventive of decay—not a restorer. Harness are now so high that it is more than ever important to take good care of them Never let them suffer for the want of oil, keep in Teaching Horses to Stand. An old horseman gives the following as is method of training horses to stand with out being tied. After young horses have ecome bridle wise, I first endeavor to teach them the meaning of every word I say to them This not a difficult matter, provided too many words are not used at once The first thing is to adopt some word at the sound of which they are to understand they must stop Words which are easy to speak, and which can be made emphatic, should be chosen, such as "ho," "who," etc., and every time the word is used the horse to which it is spoken should be made to obey it fully Carelessness in regard to the mattaught than anything else. When a horse fully understands the meaning of the word irlly understands the meaning of the word at which you wish him to stop and stand et il, the greater part of the work is accomplished. He can then be trivited with safety while you leave him for a short time. To take no risk, and to make the work more effective, it is a good plan for two to get into the wagon to which a horse is hitched, and, having stopped after a short drive, one should get out and leave him at a short distance. Should the horse start, the one in the wagon can draw the lines suddenly and thus prevent his getting away. There will thus prevent his getting away. There will be no trouble in teaching any borse with an ordinary amount of good common sense to stand as long as you desire without being hitched it a little judgment is used in attempting it—American Sportsman

TWO OSIO FARMERS BADLY FLERCED -D G Parkhill and F. W Vesy were farmers at Mound poet office, Cosbocton county, in a week or two past the tempter, in the hape of the circulars of the green goods men n New York, fell across their paths. Then they entered into correspondence with the wily "green goods men" They concluded to invest $335 which was all they could to invest $335 which was all they could rake and scrape together, in $9,000 worth of the green goods. They left home on last Wednesday, and reached New York on Thursday night. They met two nicelydressed, smooth-talking gentlemen, who took them to a bote! The next morning they were escorted to another building, where the New Yorkers displayed "the overen goods." and gave them genguis hills.

where the New Yorkers displayed "the green goods," and gave them genome bills and told them to go out and spend them. They dut so, and found they passed readily. Then they bunded over $335 of their good money for the supposed $6 000 in green goods, "warranted to imitate the genome so closely that an expert could not tell them apart," as the circular stated. The sharpers took "the $6,000" into an adjoining room and packed it in a wooden box and placed this in the value of the "honest Ohio farmers," shock hands with them and warned them not to open the box until they reached Philadelphia, under any circumstances. They went to a botel in Philadelphia about 11 o'clock on Friday night, where they opened the box and lound, to their dismay that it was filled with brown paper. They were chamoring at Detective Capt Peter Miller's office, at the city hall, on Saturday, for transportation home. He told them the city of Philadelphia had no money to pay their lare, and sent them to the Broad Street.

Seems like a large sum for one firm to have invested in readymade Clothing in Gettysburg.

It is true, nevertheless, and as the senior member of the firm wishes to withdraw and that they may turn this into good hard cash. Stine & Son are selling their entire stock off at cost.
